Description	Hello,

I am a customer of WV American Water. We have been told it is okay to use our water. I have had 2 showers in 12 days. The first one made me ill, the 2nd made my eyes burn. I just don't think that the water is safe. It leaves your skin feeling very odd. I don't think enough is being done to warn citizens about how dangerous this is. Now they are going to stop handing out water. This is now day 12 and my water is smelling worse than it was over the weekend.

Description Dear Mr. President,
My family and I are some of the thousands that have been affected by the chemical spill in West Virginia. We have been told it's safe for us to use our water, but there is new information coming to the surface about the safe threshold for use being way less than 1 ppm. I am outraged and ashamed of the contradictory information that has been fed to us over the last several days. If this is an actual emergency or disaster, then why have we not seen you? We want the truth. We want the answers that everyone seems to be dancing around. No one would even mind that much if we had to continue going without water longer so they can properly do research and fix things. We are just tired of being treated like WE are the research project.

[Isn't it about time you stepped in to address the worst environmental disaster this nation has ever had? Why isn't there a program set up to test drinking water at homes and schools? Why wasn't a study set up to assess the extent of the contamination at the end user level? If the EPA can't be trusted to help citizens, it has ceased to perform its mandate. I am really embarrassed by EPA's inaction in West Virginia.

Description

Hello,

Thank you for taking the time to read this. I currently live in Charleston, WV, and as I'm sure you are aware, a chemical spill has contaminated our water supply. On Monday, January 13, we were advised that certain zones would begin the flushing process. I waited until my zone was "cleared for flushing" and I followed the flushing instructions to-a-T. Now, it is Wednesday, and I still have a very strong licorice chemical smell in my water, and I have red, blotchy rashes on my skin. My children are experiencing rashes on their skin as well, and all of our eyes burn while showering. The licorice smell is so bad that it will make you lightheaded if you keep the windows closed while showering or running the washing machine. Our community is asking West Virginia American if the water is TRULY safe, and we are given the standard, monotonous answer about parts per million, and that the CDC says it's safe, but I beg to differ. As a mom, my gut instinct is telling me there is something wrong with all of this-yet I really do not have the power to change it. We all feel like we are sitting ducks, or labs in a bizarre experiment. I'm not looking to sue any company that I feel is at fault, but I believe we deserve to be told the truth. Is there anything that can be done to assist with the concerns of the people in the state of West Virginia?

Description The water supply in West Virginia has been contaminated! It is not safe for human consumption, yet we are being told to use this water for our children. Meanwhile the rest of the world makes ignorant jokes or ignores the issue completely. I live in a country that doesn't care if its citizens have clean drinking water! Where is the media coverage? Where is the justice? Perhaps in a state less economically challenged!
